

African Studies

Since 2015, the Committee for African Studies has overseen the increasing awareness of Africa-related programming at UCR. Project events bring together the increasing number of faculty studying Africa to build community and to raise the profile of African Studies at UCR. The primary goal in 2020-2021 is to nurture an intellectual community among African Studies faculty and graduate students by hosting a brown-bag series and guest lecturers, convening of the Working Group of African Political Economy, and supporting the Inland Empire's Ultimate Doundounba Festival.

Committee Members

Ademide Adelus-Adeluyi, Assistant Professor, History

Jody Benjamin, Assistant Professor, History

Kim Yi Dionne, Associate Professor, Political Science

Derick Fay, Associate Professor, Anthropology

Anthonia Kalu, Professor, Comparative Languages and Lit./Gender and Sexuality Studies

Kelechi Kalu, Professor, Political Science

Yolanda Moses, Professor, Anthropology

Worku Nida, Assistant Professor of Teaching, Anthropology

Makeda Parker, Lecturer, Dance

Jade Sasser, Associate Professor, Gender and Sexuality Studies

Jennifer Syvertsen, Assistant Professor, Anthropology

Learn more at africanstudies.ucr.edu